Gigantic Plot Charged To Peaches And Mother By Browning

DAUGHTER OF CHOIR SINGER TO TESTIFY

Sensational Charges to be Made by Daughter
Of Slain Singer

By GEORGE V. BUCHANAN
(By Universal Service)
(Copyright 1927, Universal Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Charlotte Mills, an outstanding figure in the Hall-Mills murder trial two months ago today assumed a similar role in the sensational separation suit between Peaches Heenan Browning and her rector husband Edward West Browning.

The daughter of the choir singer who was murdered with the Rev. Edward Hall in New Bur-swick, New Jersey was subpoenaed tonight by counsel for Mr. Browning as the key witness by which he hopes to prove that Peaches and her mother, Mrs. Caroline Heenan Browning, engineered a plot to strip Browning of his millions.

Testimony by Miss Mills is expected to show that Peaches and her mother conferred with heads of a newspaper feature service before the separation proceedings for the publication of a series on
"Why I Left 'Daddy' Browning."

At the advice of the syndicate's head Peaches' desertion of Browning was delayed in the testimony
Browning hopes to disclose.

Miss Mills was served with a summons as she boarded a train in Pennsylvania station for her home in New Brunswick while earlier in the day W. Earmon Wardell, and Leslie Fullenweider, partners in the syndicate had been similarly served.

At the time Peaches is said to have been induced to postpone the date of her departure from "daddy"
Miss Mills was in daily contact with Wardell and Fullenweider regarding arrangements for the publication of a series of stories bearing her name and which were to be written through bought by her at the Hall-Mills trial then pending.

Her evidence for Browning is believed to concern a conservation between Peaches, Mrs. Heenan, and syndicate heads which she might have overheard while waiting in an anti-room of the syndicate's offices. The syndi-cate's heads were said to have had Peaches tell the desertion of Browning so that she would gain publicity in the interim.

It was known that Peaches went to the home of M. Wardell at Englewood N. J., after her flight from the love cop at Kew Gardens and while newspapers reporters sought her she was dictating details of her article. When that work was completed Fullenweider divulged the location of her retreat to certain newspaper men and intimated at one time that information he had been offered
"a considerable price."

It became apparent today that the first attention of the court on Monday when the trial opens at White Plains will center on Browning's own testimony and on reading into the transcript of the twenty-odd letters which were introduced into evidence on Wednesday by Browning's lawyers. By the letters Browning's counsel hoped to show that Peaches was of a worldly character at the time of her marriage.

Stanford Has Given Women Students Right To Puff Weed

New Freedom Granted by Associated Women
Students

(By Universal Service)
STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan.
27.—The emancipation of women was given further impetus today at Stanford when co-eds were conceded the privilege of smoking.
Official consent of President Ray Lyman Wilbur was immediately forthcoming upon the passing of the new ruling by the Associated Women Students of Stanford University. It is now up to the individual sororities and other women's groups to decide for themselves individually. But the sentiment of the women at the passage of the rule was practically unanimous indicating that most of the girls will take advantage of the offer.

In fostering this movement the co-eds claimed to be following the policy of "more individual character building, freedom for Stanford Women." The announcement came entirely as a surprise to the campus for interested women have worked up the present freedom entirely unknown to the men students.

The members of three Stanford sororities are prohibited from indulging in the now popular habit of smoking by their national constitution, but as far as the university is concerned these so called "unlucky co-eds" have the freedom of their homes.

However there shall be no haunting of cigarettes in public for the women have no idea of chocking more conservatives.
Hence they have added the clause
"respect for the sentiment of the University against women smoking in public gatherings upon the campus or in the vicinity of university buildings is upheld by the Associated Women Students. It is recommended that women do not smoke in Palo Alto or vicinity."

Lone Unmasked Bandit Robs Oregon Bank

(By Universal Service)
EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 27.—A lone unmasked bandit held up and robbed the Florence State Bank at Florence, a remote town on the coast west of here, escaping with nearly $16,000, according to word reaching the sheriff's office here tonight.

The robbery occurred at 3 p. m. as the bank was closing. Miss Harriet Weatherston, cashier, was the only one in the bank when the bandit entered and with a gun forced her to sweep all the funds into a bag, then drove her into the vault and locked the door.

The girl found a screw-driver and some matches in the vault and succeeded in working the combination after almost two hours and freed herself.

The bandit is believed to have been accompanied by an outside accomplice as two suspects were observed later. They are being pursued in the heavy forests of the coast country by possees tonight.

CHAPLIN POSTS TAX LIEN BOND OF ONE MILLION

Another Tax Suit Filed
In Los Angeles
Against Star

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Funds of Charlie Chaplin, here, were freed of a government lien for alleged unpaid income taxes today when his attorneys posted a $1,000,000 bond with Collector of Internal Revenue Frank K. Bowers. The attachments had been made on Chaplin's said to total $500,000 in three New York banks, the Guaranty Trust company, the East River National Bank and the Bowers Savings Bank.

The film comedian's accounts were placed under lien by a government claim against Chaplin and his film enterprises for back income taxes of $1,135,000. Posting of the bond will permit Chaplin to continue with his film work and allow him to complete his picture "The Circus" it was said.
As soon as the government litigation has been straightened out, Chaplin is expected to return to the coast to fight court proceedings of his wife.

Stolen Chickens Found By Police

Local police had the experience yesterday morning of recovering lost stolen from a local home before the report of the theft reached the police station.

Patrolling a beat early yesterday morning Officers J. S. Fads and F. H. Hawkins noticed two men near First and Nevins carrying sacks and acting suspicious.
The officers gave chase and one of the men dropped the sack.
Both escaped by dodging behind houses. The officers picked up the sack and found it contained three chickens.

Last night Mrs. Rubie Curry, 932 Ohio street reported that someone entered a chicken house at her home Thursday night and stole six chickens valued at $12.
She identified the three chickens found by the officers yesterday morning as a portion of the loot taken from her home.

Mexicans Execute Petronilo Lopez

(By Universal Service)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—Petronilo
Lopez, former aide to Gen.
Enrique Estrada, now on trial with 80 followers in federal court here after an unsuccessful attempt to capture Lower California, has been executed by Federal troops in Jaurez, according to word received here today.

Attorney Lorri Andrews, Estrada's defense counsel, said he had received a letter from a relative of Lopez telling of the execution.
Lopez was among those indicted for his part in the Estrada "invasion" but disappeared before the trial. He was the second member of the "rebels" army" to be captured in Mexico and shot.

PAVING PLANS FOR SAN PABLO PROGRESSING

City Engineer E. A. Hoffman will hold a conference with Chief Engineer H. Bell, of the Key System sometime next week, at which time specifications for the proposed double track on San Pablo avenue will be discussed, it was announced yesterday.

"Work will start on the project as soon as possible," Hoffman stated yesterday. "We must first find where the Key system plans to lay its switches before we can begin our paving. With a complete understanding of what each intends to do I see no obstacle to an early beginning on the work."

Key system officials agreed
Wednesday night to double track
San Pablo avenue from Macdonald avenue to McBryde avenue at a cost of $85,000. Both members of the city council and heads of the Key Route have evinced determination to carry the work through to completion in the shortest space of time.

The arresting officer, Frank Davis, swore that Erwin was going sixty miles an hour when he arrested him.
Yesterday in the court of Judge pondered over the matter and then with Solomon-like judgment, declared that Erwin was speeding at 42 miles an hour.

The judge thereupon "soaked"
Erwin $50 and costs.

DEFENSE OF COAST SCORED BY OFFICIALS

Thirty Years Behind The Times Say Army And Navy Officers

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—
Broadside after broadside was fired against the inadequacy of coast defense on the Pacific by Major General John L. Hines and Rear Admiral Thomas Washington at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon here today.

"In case of war on the Pacific," warned Admiral Washington, "and this seems to be the next theatre of hostilities, we are still as deficient as we were twenty-five or thirty years ago. Demands for a naval base here are most pressing."

General Hines former chief of staff of the army who succeeded General Pershing and lately assumed command of the Ninth Corps Area here also dwelt upon the "unpreparedness" of the coast.

"Through gradual slackening of appropriations and the economy program" he said, "the national defense act of 1920 has been altered more and more. Some day somebody will be asked to account for it. It gave us the first military policy we ever had and it would provide a rational national defense if its provisions were only lived up to. I urge you to see to it that the will of the people for adequate defense is carried out."

Episcopal Prayer Books not Affected by British Order

(By Universal Service)
LONDON, Jan. 27.—Episcopal prayer books in this country will not be affected by the recent revision by the House of Bishops in London of the book of common prayer, the Rt. Rev.
William Bertrand Stevens, bishop coadjutor of the diocese of Los Angeles, declared today.

Bishop Stevens explained that the Church of England revises its own prayer book and the Episcopal church in the United States also makes its own revision. The latter is now being revised. Last year the marriage ceremony was changed to omit the word "obey" and the phrase, "with all my worldly goods I thee endow."
Bishop Stevens said there would be no change this year in the nuptial service.

American Divorces in Paris are Few

(By Universal Service)
By WILLIAM HILLMAN
PARIS, Jan. 27.—Complaint that American divorce cases keep the Paris courts overworked is not borne out from a study of the official figures just made by a prominent American divorce lawyer.

Almost five times as many French couples were divorced in the last three months of 1926 as Americans during the entire year.
In that period there were 1,902
French divorces while only 280
American couples were divorced during the year.

Ban Is Placed On 'Speakeasy' Operation By US Dry Agents

Andrews May Resign If Not Given Free Hand
In Enforcement

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today sounded the death knell on night club and "speakeasy" operation by prohibition "under cover" agents.

On the heels of a sweeping condemnation of illegal acts to en-trap violators, Mellon summoned Assistant Secretary Andrews to his office to thresh out the undercover policy. New orders for bidding agents to engage in these activities were foreshadowed by Mellon as a result of the crisis.

Subsequently every indication was given that Andrews will resign his post as dry chief six weeks hence unless congress strengthens his hand by enacting new legislation which now appears doomed to defeat.

The turmoil over "under cover" methods appeared to threaten for a time his immediate retirement.
But Andrews determined to stick at his post and fight to the end for his legislation. During reports that he would step out at once. He said:

"I am not even thinking of resigning. Reports to that effect are inspired by the enemies of my legislative program and of law enforcement."

The dry chief's determination to "carry on" until congress adjourns was voiced despite clear-cut evidence of differences over "under cover" policy between Andrews, on one hand, and Mellon and Commissioner of Internal Revenue David H. Blair on the other.

Withdrawal of Americans

By WILLIAM P. FLYTHE
(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—New orders were sent to American Naval forces in China today to devote their whole attention to the protection of Americans.
In so doing, they will act in concert with the forces of the British if desirable.

The situation is still acute, as the rival armies converge on Shanghai without any effective guarantees of protection of lives from either faction, it was said.
The statement of Senator Borah chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, urging that America withdraw warships and that all Americans leave China at once meets the approval of the State Department, it was learned.

12,000 in China
This, it was frankly said, would be a solution of the problem, but it was pointed out that there is no means just now available to evacuate 12,000 Americans scattered throughout China or even the 4,500 concentrated in Shanghai. Besides, it was warned, many Americans have re-

AIR MAIL INCREASE

The United States Post Office Department is sharing in the general prosperity of the nation, according to the annual report of Postmaster General New, recently issued, which shows that during the fiscal year the business of the department, as measured by the postal receipts, made a gain of 10.4 per cent. There was an increase in salaries to postal employees due to the postal bill of $70,000,000, but outside of this increase, in spite of the additional business the expenditures of the department for the year increased a little more than one per cent. And despite the increase of salaries of the postal employees the deficit for operating the postoffices of the country was cut in two during the fiscal year.

The major source of the postal revenue was of course, the postage paid on mail and this amounted to a little more than $587,000,000 an increase of a little over nine per cent from the year previous.

Along with the increase in business there was an increase in undelivered letters, this in spite of the publicity about the careful addressing and wrapping of mail. During the year the dead letter business increased twelve per cent over the fiscal year 1925.

One interesting feature of the report is that which touches on the air mail. During the year 2,256,137 miles of mail trips were performed in airplanes. In the total, ninety-four per cent of the scheduled air mail trips were carried out. The air planes carried 353,641 pounds of air mail and the receipts were $861,865 in excess of regular mail rates.

The report shows the general prosperous condition of the country and the figures indicate further that the Postoffice Department is in efficient and progressive hands.

"As a grammatical authority," says the Boston Transcript, "we should like to have heard some of the king's English when he heard that the Prince of Wales had been drawing beer in a saloon." And maybe the Prince's English wouldn't have been so bad either?

This investigation business has gone so far that every senator, to be efficient should be equipped with a private detective as well as a private secretary.

And we can be thankful shoes are not like automobile tires so we would have to sit down when we got a hole in them.

The American marines land in Nicaragua and thereby get a little much needed exercise on shore.

THE OLD ONES ARE THE BLESSED

A reader contributes these interesting observations:

A few days ago I chanced upon a newspaper article which has started a train of thought. A woman died recently in Bulgaria at the age of 135 years. She had never been ill for a day in her life, up to the time of her death. Furthermore she was the mother of eight or 10 children, none of whom had ever been ill.

(Right here, I should think, we ought to have a placard inviting the public to try our Bulgarian buttermilk.)

Of course no one would want to live 135 years if he must drag around a feeble, disease-ridden body. But to keep the body sound and healthy for 100 years? What a glorious achievement. Naturally one wishes to learn how that Bulgarian woman accomplished the feat. Well, the newspaper item went on to say that she and her children lived on a diet consisting mainly of sour milk, fish, vegetables and whole wheat bread.

I recall that there was quite a flurry a few years ago about the practice of drinking sour or Bulgarian fermented milk. We do not hear much about this now.

A friend of mine who served with the A. E. F. says that centenarians were quite common in the French villages, mainly in the present class. He, being an anthropologist, attributes this to the fact that these people consume a lot of beer.

I have never seen or met a centenarian in the United States. People live to be 90, sometimes 100, but of a vigorousness still being strong (such as Chauncey Depew), but how very few hold on longer. Most of the aged folk in this country seem to be so feeble they are weary of life.

Why have these people across the water learned to eat and to live so much better than we with our boasted intelligence and enlightenment? Just about the time when we should be getting the most out of life we are in a frenzy because the doctor has informed us that our blood pressure is too high or our arteries are not so pliable as they were, or we have a tendency toward diabetes or whatnot.

Have the French or the Bulgarians learned to keep their bodies sound to an advanced age by proper nutrition?

Should I start drinking Bulgarian buttermilk three times a day, or taking a few pints of beer or light wine every day?

Buttermilk is a rather wholesome beverage if one likes it. Metchnikoff suggested that each adult drink daily about a pint of skim milk (fresh milk from which the cream has been skimmed), which, has been boiled five minutes, to kill off most of the bacteria in it, and then sown with a culture of Bulgarian bacilli, a special strain of the ordinary bacteria which are responsible for the natural souring of milk. More recently some scientists advocated the use of another strain of lactic acid or sour milk bacteria, called acidophilus, for the purpose of fermenting or souring milk to be used as a beverage. My own notion is that none of these highfalutin or fancy store preparations can give anything more than one gets from drinking ordinary buttermilk, real buttermilk produced as a by-product of churning.

Newspaper yarns of extraordinary medical matters must be taken with a large grain of salt. Many such yarns sent from Europe to the press of this country are on their face mere pipe dreams of the enterprising correspondent.

All legendary or popular tales of extreme old age should be freely discounted. This Bulgarian woman probably looked 135 years old, and perhaps her life seemed that long to the woman herself and the newspaper correspondent.

Recalled that a woman is as old as she looks, and that's enough for a good story. The extremely antique French peasants are noted for their knack of growing five or ten years older each year after the age of 50. They have it over some of our old stagers in America like a tent in that respect. As a matter of fact, so far as anything akin to reliable statistics can indicate, the average duration of life is 10 years longer in America than in France, and 30 years longer than in Bulgaria.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Gym Teacher Is Right for Once.
I practice three hours and 20 minutes every day on piano and an hour on my vocal lesson every day. My gymnasium teacher (maybe she's right for the first time in her life) told me this exercise is not sufficient and that I should take some good general exercise every day. I am 19. (Miss T. W. E.)

Answer—You should balance your activity by getting some daily gymnasium work, or playing an active game, or doing some athletic dancing or skipping rope or some such exercise if you must remain indoors, but best of all would be a daily five mile walk at a brisk pace. A "gym teacher" who has had a proper training is qualified to advise you about your exercise and you will seldom find one wrong in such advice.

T. B. and Marriage
Would it be an injury or a benefit to a young man's health to get married who has T. B.?

There are 18 percent of his lungs gone already. I am a mother very interested. (Mrs. H. E. J.)
Answer—Such a marriage would be a tragedy.

Calories
Have you a Calorie chart at your disposal? If not, where may I obtain one. (Mrs. B. S.)

Answer—No. Send 10 cents to the superintendent of documents, government printing office, Washington, D. C., for a copy of agricultural department bulletin No. 28 (revised) "Chemical Composition of American Food Materials," by Atwater and Bryant.

ES Off and Badly Off
I am nearly 70 years of age. Last March I weighed 225 pounds. Under your direction I have reduced in seven months to 160 pounds. But there my weight remains stationary. How can I reduce more without literally starving? (Mrs. B. R. J.)

Answer—I advise you not to attempt more reduction.

Dress
I am a girl 19 years old and live with a maiden aunt—you know the rest! Each morning I don a brassiere, chemise, chiffon hose, slippers and dress. Then auntie insists I am weakening my constitution and that I will suffer dire things when I am older. Thus far I seem to have enjoyed the most vulgar good health. (Foolish Girl.)

Answer—So far as the quantity of clothing is concerned or its warmth, you are all right—but please don't let auntie know. I told you so.

WHAT ONE MOTHER KNEW

Do you worry over having your house clean and your washing and ironing done more than you worry over teaching your children the value and care of a strong, healthy body and mind? Which comes first, the dust on your piano or your children?

Here's a letter which will start one chapter of a book which I intend some day to write. The title of it will be: "What One Mother Knew."

"Dear Arthur Dean: I wish I could meet some of those wonderful mothers who write to you. We have been living in this neighborhood for six years, but I've not met any mothers as yet that have any system or regularity in bringing up their children.

"Day in and day out I sit at home, just waiting at the every-day problems of housekeeping and as she looks, and that's enough for a good story. The extremely antique French peasants are noted for their knack of growing five or ten years older each year after the age of 50. They have it over some of our old stagers in America like a tent in that respect. As a matter of fact, so far as anything akin to reliable statistics can indicate, the average duration of life is 10 years longer in America than in France, and 30 years longer than in Bulgaria.

"I read and try to improve my methods. For instance, my three children have never tasted coffee or tea, never eat pork or fried things, each has a quart of milk a day. They all get their full quota of sleep. Most of the neighbors children go to bed any time, eat anything and go anywhere.

"My four-year-old, Dick, takes a nap of two hours every day. The neighbor's girl of three years can't be made to take a nap. Another neighborhood child couldn't go to Sunday school last Sunday because she'd been out too late the night before, and so on.

"My children also all help me do certain things and get allowance of twenty-five cents, fifteen cents and ten cents respectively. I am the banker and they have their bank books. They never buy penny candy and have candy only after the noon-day meal.

"Why is it that the majority of mothers would rather worry over having the house clean and their washing and ironing done just so, than to stop to teach their children the value and care of a strong healthy body and mind?

"My children's welfare comes first. What if there is dust on the piano? When the children are grown and gone, I'll have plenty of time to dust. Now, when they come in from school I would rather have a few minutes quiet talk with them. I welcome a rest, but most of all I welcome the chance to hear what is in my children's mind and settle some questions for them—which they may go to others with if I hadn't time!

"My eldest girl came from school yesterday and said: 'Oh, I'm not going with such and such a girl again.'

"I asked her why not and she spelled out to me in whispers language the girl had used.

"My heart almost stood still and I could have wept. What can

hose, slippers and dress. Then auntie insists I am weakening my constitution and that I will suffer dire things when I am older. Thus far I seem to have enjoyed the most vulgar good health. (Foolish Girl.)

Answer—So far as the quantity of clothing is concerned or its warmth, you are all right—but please don't let auntie know. I told you so.

I do to protect my own from such children? Why must there be such evil-minded children as the child that said that? When asked what she answered to the accusation she: 'I didn't answer.' But what did she think?

"Is home influence stronger than outside influence? I have to instruct my children alone as their father works hard all day and at night falls asleep while reading a newspaper. PLEASE SEND ME SOME HELPFUL LEAFLETS.

"My letter must seem a queer jumble of words, but I have no one else to go to, so I finally made up my mind to write to you, as I know by reading your daily articles you are a 'Bank of Wisdom.'

"Perpetrated Mother" must be stronger than any other influence except that inner, inner influence which comes from the 'still small voice.' This influence from within is started by the home, reinforced by intelligence, and supported by good common sense. I wouldn't spend much time over the dust on the piano. There's probably a lot more dirt in your community which needs cleaning out. That's why Parent Teachers Associations and other club movements for improving environment conditions are so worth while.

Bright light, warm room, full stomach, and a quiet wife are the causes behind your husband's falling asleep; not lack of interest in news or children. Wonder if 'piano dusters' make poor mothers and keep their husbands awake by 'tawing'?

"Dear Doctor:

"Here are my sentiments in answer to a poem I saw recently in your column: Blessings on thee, little fellow, Fancy sox and shoes of yellow With your big-legged pantalones, And your jazzy whistled tunes, With the stomp on your hair, Thinking to make you more fair, Transparent clothes and lips of red

Are better than an empty head. As we pass, my lips I curl Thankful I was born a girl.

A Girl

"Dear Dr. Dean:

"In your column you quoted a verse on 'Thank the Lord I was born a boy.' I am sending another verse in answer to the one the boy sent you: Blessings on you, modern chick, Pinched for speeding twice a week With oxford bag, sporty clothes, And overhanging sloppy hose; With your flirring, jazzy air, And your plastered greasy hair; Gasoline brain that's all awhirl! Thank heaven that I'm a girl!

SYNOPSIS
John Ballard rises from poverty to District Attorneyship. He loves Viola Ruskin, but Fate weeds her to Hardin, an old chum, now President of a great railroad and pitted to Jordan, money king. Jordan's greed causes a grave wreck. John grimly purposes to put the responsible officials in jail. Phil learns Viola loves John, and threatens to expose a corrupt brawl in which John killed a man to protect Phil. John refuses to be coerced. John and Viola confess their hopeless love to one another. The wreck trial opens in another county seat.

CHAPTER XIII—Continued
One afternoon he left his office early, and, instead of going at once to Plainville, told his driver to take him to his home, since he had need of a bag that was in his room there. And while he was in his room his telephone rang.

"Long distance call for Mr. Hardin," he heard, when he answered. "Transferred from your office, Mr. Hardin. Party is calling from New York and wants you to pay for the call. Is that all right?"

"All right—yes. Hurry it up, that's all," he said, impatiently. "Here you are—go ahead," said the operator.

A thin, strange voice sounded in his ear.

"Mr. Hardin? Mr. Philip Hardin?"

"Yes—yes. Who is this?"

"You wouldn't know the name, Mr. Hardin. I'm one who saw you a long time ago. One night in a place where the lights went out. Do you know what I mean?"

Phil was trembling with excitement.

"Yes! Yes—go on!"

"There was, and so was another party. This other party's on his way to see you now. He gets in on the train that gets to your city at 4:45. He's going straight to your office. You'd better arrange to see him."

"Why should I?"

"You'll be sorry if you don't. Do you know who I mean by B.?"

"Yes. You mean—"

"Careful," boss. Telephones aren't to be trusted, remember. This party carries a letter it'll be a good thing for you to have—see? You can have it—at a price. He'll tell you all about that. Name of Smith, the party. Better arrange to see him."

"I'll see him—of course. How much do you want?"

"He'll tell you. And if you don't want to see these other two who will. This party, name of Smith, is going to try to see you first. Then, if he can't, he's going to see B. A word to the wise—oh, boss? And a letter in the hand's worth two in the B—what?"

"Yes—but—"

"There was a click in his ear. And when, frantically, he called back to Central he got only: 'With best regards, you were talking with B. hang up.'"

He could only wait—wait and telephone orders to his office that if a man named Smith came, asking for him, he was to be sent to his home immediately. But his waiting was done in a fever of impatience, and, as five o'clock approached, with an eye constantly on the clock.

At last there was a ring at the front door. He answered it himself; swung open the door and saw a man standing on the step—an unimposing man, in shabby clothes, with a three-day stubble of black beard on his chin.

"I want to see Mr. Hardin," said the stranger. "Come in!" said Phil. "I'm Mr. Hardin."

"Get to have proof of that, boss," said the other, impatiently. Phil turned out the contents of a pocket—letters, an automobile license card, identification, enough to enable him to cash a check in a strange bank. The other nodded.

"Kay O, boss," he said, in a horse voice that spoke of much whiskey drinking. "Name of Smith. Maybe you heard by phone I was coming?"

"I did. Yes. What is it you want? Let me see this letter you brought."

"Not so fast, boss. Not quite so fast."

Deliberately, and with painstaking care, Smith took a packet, wrapped in oil silk, from his pocket. From it he took two or three folded papers. One of these he tapped, significantly.

"There she is, boss," he said. "The original over in the wool, genuine, itself and not a moving picture, letter! And there is a copy!"

Phil snatched at the crudely typed sheet.

"Then the lights went out, and everyone took a crack at everyone else," he read. "I got beamed on the conk, and I beat it while the beating was good. And here's the joke. They was a lot of collectors there, and one of them thought he'd killed me! And I was willing because Pete had it in for me and was going to frame me and have me sent up. So I let them go on thinking they'd done me in, and Harry and Buck told Pete they'd pulled me out and buried me, quiet, so there wouldn't be no trouble, that might get the joint pulled. But I got a laugh when ever I think of that collector thinking he'd croaked me, and being scared pink every time he seen a bull looking at him."

When he had finished reading Phil stared at Smith.

"Well!" he said. "What good does this do me?"

"Well, that's to be figured out, ain't it, boss? Suppose we think a bit first about what harm it could do you. Suppose I give this letter to John Ballard?"

Phil jumped. Their last chance gone—the one hold they had on Ballard broken! He stared.

"On the other hand, suppose you take this letter—first slipping me five thousand berries—we don't want much—just five grand. What's to stop you from putting it on the fire?"

"I'll do it," Phil drew a long breath. "But—even so—that doesn't bring us any nearer to proving that Ballard did kill a man."

"You think of everything, don't you, boss?" said Smith, with pretended admiration. "Well, suppose I said that for another five grand—and that's only ten in all—we and a friend of mine would go on the stand and swear we seen this Ballard croak Rudy, and that we was the guys what buried him afterward?"

"Suppose Johnson appeared and proved we weren't lying?"

"He won't—never fear. He's dead now, if he wasn't then. No. It's safe enough, boss. It's an open and shut case for you."

Phil hesitated. Then, abruptly, he nodded.

"Five thousand now—five thousand if and when you have to testify against Ballard?"

"Fair enough, Phil. Five grand now I slip you the letter. For five grand more me and my pal go into court whenever you giva the word."

"All right," Phil reached for his checkbook. Smith threw up his hands.

"No checks, boss! Go—what're thinkin' about? We don't either one of us want any—knowing we've had this little talk do we?"

"Right!" said Phil. "Wait—I can get the cash. Wait a minute. I'll send for it."

He went outside and called his butler. Half an hour later, the man was back from the office of the N. Y. and C. V. R. R., with fifty crisp, new hundred dollar bills. Phil counted them out; Smith handed him the original letter, greasy, folded, almost—but not quite—undecipherable.

"All right, boss," said Smith. "Now, here's my address—this is how you reach me when you want me, and my pal for the other little matter."

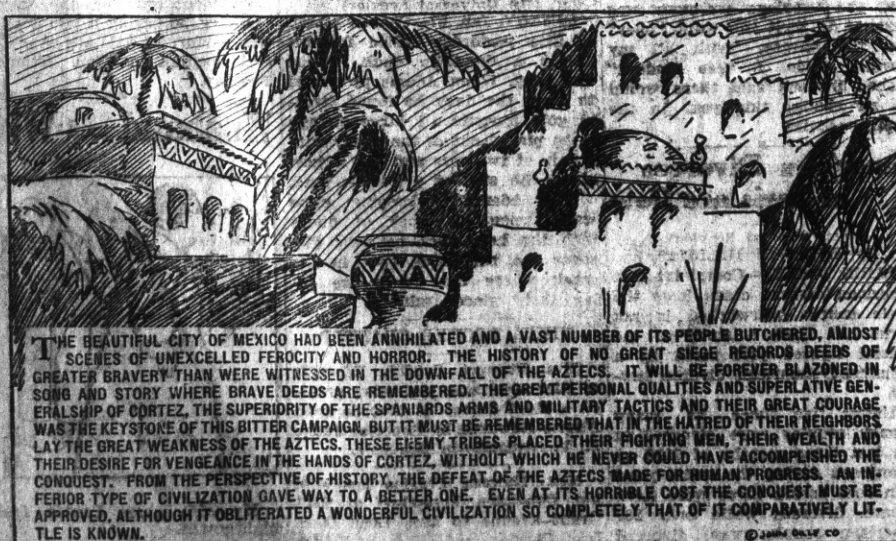

"Very well," said Phil. A shudder of disgust shook him as he looked at Smith. "To think that he, Philip Hardin, had sunk to trafficking with so low and depraved a creature as this! However—he had no choice. Self preservation, he reminded himself, was, after all, nature's first law. As of now, I'm late in starting, as it is."

"I ain't any more anxious to be seen with you than what you are to have any truck with me," said Smith. "A pretty poor lot we are, the two of us, if you ask me."

And he turned, with a contemptuous look at Phil, and left the room and the house.

Phil had received him in a small room, downstairs, used for just such casual interviews with those who called at the house on business. A gas log was in the fireplace, and Phil stood up, ready to enable the other to rise, and turned to take the letter he had laid on a table, meaning to burn it without delay. "What he saw me in him give back a step" (To be continued)

Men Who Made the World FERNANDO CORTEZ By Dr. Elliot Shoring, the Noted Historian

THE BEAUTIFUL CITY OF MEXICO HAD BEEN ANNIHILATED AND A VAST NUMBER OF ITS PEOPLE BUTCHERED, AMIDST SCENES OF UNEXCELLED FEROCITY AND HORROR. THE HISTORY OF NO GREAT SIEGE RECORDS DEEDS OF GREATER BRAVERY THAN WERE WITNESSED IN THE DOWNFALL OF THE AZTECS. IT WILL BE FOREVER BLAZONED IN SONG AND STORY WHERE BRAVE DEEDS ARE REMEMBERED. THE GREAT PERSONAL QUALITIES AND SUPERLATIVE GENERALSHIP OF CORTEZ, THE SUPERIORITY OF THE SPANIARDS' ARMS AND MILITARY TACTICS AND THEIR GREAT COURAGE WAS THE KEYSTONE OF THIS BITTER CAMPAIGN, BUT IT MUST BE REMEMBERED THAT IN THE MATH OF THEIR NEIGHBORS LAY THE GREAT WEAKNESS OF THE AZTECS. THESE ENEMY TRIBES PLACED THEIR FIGHTING MEN, THEIR WEALTH AND THEIR DESIRE FOR VENGEANCE IN THE HANDS OF CORTEZ, WITHOUT WHICH HE NEVER COULD HAVE ACCOMPLISHED THE CONQUEST. FROM THE PERSPECTIVE OF HISTORY, THE DEFEAT OF THE AZTECS MADE FOR HUMAN PROGRESS. AN INFERIOR TYPE OF CIVILIZATION GAVE WAY TO A BETTER ONE. EVEN AT ITS HORRIBLE CORSE THE CONQUEST MUST BE APPROVED, ALTHOUGH IT OBLITERATED A WONDERFUL CIVILIZATION SO COMPLETELY THAT OF IT COMPARATIVELY LITTLE IS KNOWN.

TWO YEARS HAD ELAPSED SINCE CORTEZ SENT HIS FIRST LETTER TO CHARLES V. KING OF SPAIN, BUT NO DIRECT WORD OR SIGN OF ANY RECOGNITION HAD REACHED CORTEZ FROM THE MONARCH. CORTEZ' POSITION WAS UNIQUE. HE WAS NOW THE ABSOLUTE MASTER OF THE VAST EMPIRE WHICH HE HAD SUBDUED WITHOUT ASSISTANCE FROM HIS KING WHO CONTINUED TO IGNORE BOTH THE CONQUEROR AND HIS CONQUEST. THE AUTHORITY OF CORTEZ, THEREFORE, HAD NO LEGAL FOUNDATION. IT REALLY RESTED ON THE WONDERFUL CONTROL HE EXERCISED OVER HIS MEN AND ON THEIR VOLUNTARY OBEDIENCE TO HIS ORDERS. THE CONQUEST FINISHED, HIS DREAM OF DISCOVERING THE GREAT STRAIT UNITING THE TWO OCEANS REVIVED. IT MEANT OPENING THE WAY TO THE VAST WEALTH OF THE INDIAN, CHINA AND THE SPICE ISLANDS. THE CONQUEROR DID NOT PERMIT VISION OF THIS GREAT WATERWAY TO INTERFERE WITH REBUILDING THE SHATTERED AZTEC EMPIRE AND, IN HIS LETTER DATED OCTOBER 25, 1524, CORTEZ ASSURED THE KING OF SPAIN THAT WITHIN FIVE YEARS MEXICO WOULD BE THE LARGEST AND MOST BEAUTIFUL CITY IN THE KING'S VAST DOMINIONS.

Tan and green are the color combinations of this dress. Black patent leather pumps of colonial style with gold steel buckles are worn with it.

COLLEGE GIRLS ALL FOR CUPID SURVEY SHOWS

(By Universal Service)
EVANSTON, Ill., Jan. 27.—The youth of today may poo-poo cupid, and marriage, but college girls are not among them as a rule, it was disclosed here today.

A survey at Northwestern University showed that out of 893 co-eds who are members of the University's twenty-six sororities, eight are already married, and 155 are wearing engagement rings or frat pins, symbolically the same thing.

Of the sororities affected by cupid, Chi Omega heads the list, twelve of its forty-five members being prospective brides. Singular features of the survey were disclosed. For instance, one of the sororities, Alpha, has eighteen girls, all of them "bachelors." One fickle co-ed was found wearing three fraternity pins. How she manages to keep three different swains guessing without losing them all, is a matter that was not gone into.

TOM MEIGHAN IS STARRED IN 'THE CANADIAN'

Wheat, the staff of life; love the spice of life; and the struggle to live! These are the things W. Somerset Maugham has placed in "The Canadian," a play which Thomas Meighan brings to the California theatre screen under the Paramount banner, starting today.

We meet Frank Taylor and Ed Marsh, two Canadian wheat growers. Taylor is working for his friend in an effort to make enough money to harvest his own crop. Along comes Ed's aristocratic sister, newly impoverished. She builds a wall around her person which is soon destroyed by the crude farmers with whom she comes in contact. Soon, Nora actually begs the man she professes to hate—Taylor—to take her away.

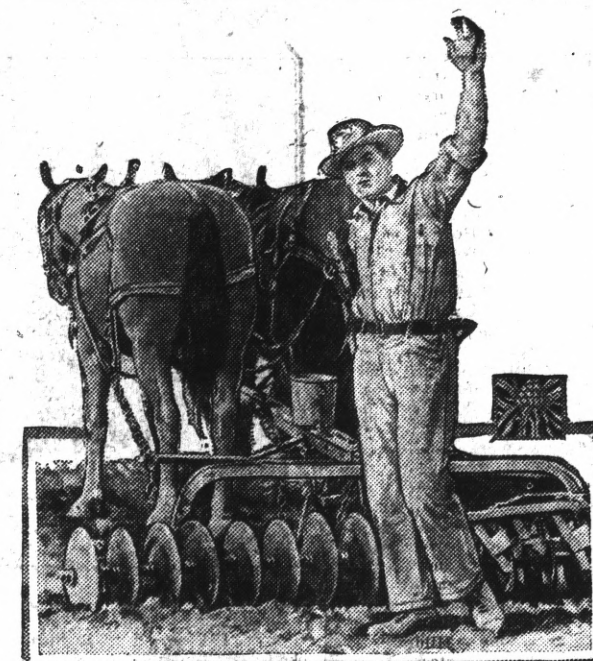

This he does and they begin a battle of their own to cheat, nature of their dues. During a year of continual self-sacrifice and labor, they learn to know each other but it is not until he forces her to his will, that Nora learns to respect him. Then, to spoil their new-born happiness, a storm comes to wipe out all Taylor's possessions!

Then the most amazing climax any drama ever had begins. Meighan makes the character he plays a real one, so do Mona Palma, Charles Winninger, Dale Fuller and Wyndham Standing. William Beaudine deserves great credit for his admirable direction.

Other features on the same program include "War Feathers," an Our Gang comedy; a Hy Mayer cartoon; International News and Larry Canelo at the organ.

CHICAGO TAKES NURSE BREAKS MEASURES TO 63 DAY FAST BREAK GANGS

(By Universal Service)
SANTA ANA, Jan. 27.—Miss Mable Mitchell, 27, a practical nurse, broke a 63-day fast here today and weighed 44 pounds less than when she began.

Last Thanksgiving, Miss Mitchell decided that her weight of 201 pounds was too much. She weighed 157 today. Her only nourishment was lemon juice, taken at long intervals.

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Gangland will be a thing of the past in this city in another generation.

Steps to assure organized crews of Boy Scouts, and other similarly civic-minded groups, are being taken here to undermine gangdom in this city, it was disclosed today.

Four hundred Boy Scouts, recruited from gangs and pool halls, are being welded into a citizenship unit, under the supervision of Scout officials, which is expected to depopulate the slum areas of the city of its potential criminals.

The work of education is being carried on at the Washburne Continuation school, whose instructors declare that the Scouts are fast showing the effects of the rigorous moral training with which the boys are being directed into channels of civic consciousness.

"Boys of 14 to 17, who are members of the student body, are proud of the work they have done so far, and of the school," said R. W. Quisenberry, supervisor of instruction. "They started their studies here with pride in belonging to such organizations as 'Cop Chasers,' 'The Big Fists,' and 'The Brass Knuckles.'"

"Today they prefer taking pride in being members of such school organizations as 'The Daniel Boone Patrol,' 'The Blackhaws,' and the like."

HISTORY OF VIGILANTES AT RICHMOND

"The Vigilantes will help us" was the cry of the threatened or oppressed in the West after gold was discovered in California in 1849, and in the "rush" to Sacramento and San Francisco the citizens grew so fast that the agencies of the law could not quite keep pace with the lawless element which threatened to take the upper hand.

How the Vigilantes were organized and how they worked is thrillingly shown in "The Unknown Cavalier," the Kew Theatre picture at the Richmond theatre today and tomorrow.

David Torrence is seen as the leader of the Vigilantes, and Maynard as a young man who joins them, and through a curious but logical combination of circumstances, himself falls under suspicion of being the masked bandit who is laying waste the countryside.

There is a girl, too, to furnish an added motive for clearing himself, charmingly portrayed by Kathleen Collins, Otis Harlan and T. Roy Barnes furnish ample "comedy relief."

Other film features on the same program include "He Forgot to Remember," a Clyde Cook comedy; and a "Mutt and Jeff" cartoon.

Cheves Fined

Ernest Cheves, Richmond restaurant proprietor, was fined $20 on a charge of battery yesterday when he appeared before Police Judge C. A. Odell. Cheves waived a jury trial and changed his plea of not guilty to one of guilty.

The restaurant owner was taken into custody several days ago when he was charged by J. E. Findley, local mechanic, with having attacked him following a crash between the machines driven by the two men.

Junior High
Program Enjoyed

Mrs. Ross Calfee and Emil Esola gave one of the most interesting concerts of the season yesterday afternoon at the Roosevelt Junior high school, under the direction of Miss Helen Morehouse.

Mrs. Calfee sang a pleasing group, accompanied by Esola at the piano. The numbers were "Open Secret," Huntington Woodman, and "A Dream," by Bartlett.

Esola gave a choice selection of California songs at the piano, and Mrs. Calfee sang California Lullaby by Selgar. The Song of Spring by Huntington Woodman concluded the program.

It was announced that the Burbank Junior high school is sending a number of talented players to present an accordion concert next Thursday. The public is cordially invited to be present at this time.

BRICK MORSE'S COLLEGIANS TO APPEAR HERE

Brick Morse's Collegians are entering upon their thirty-second season before the public. Under their present name the college boys toured the Northwest and the Orient this last summer, meeting with packed houses and enthusiasm everywhere.

Under the name of the University of California Glee Club, Brick Morse has taken his singers to the Orient on two former occasions. Three successful tours of Europe are also numbered among the Collegians' achievements.

The Collegians offer a different type of program from the ordinary college glee club. The College songs and glee are there to be sure, sung by a chorus of twenty-four voices, but interspersed are the vaudeville acts which lend spice to the program and have made the Collegians famous all over the world.

No group of college entertainers in America has such a record of achievement as have the Brick Morse Collegians. All of the entertainments presented by this famous organization are under the personal supervision of Morse.

Brick Morse's Collegians will to the feature attraction of the big vaudeville bill at the California theatre Sunday.

'GHOST GAS' APPEARS HERE

A "ghost" gas has made its appearance in Richmond, its odor is powerful when one is alone, but when firemen are called it mysteriously disappears.

After a meeting in Redmen's hall Wednesday night a lodgeman smelled gas while cleaning the kitchen. He hurriedly summoned the police who in turn called the firemen. Three companies of firemen dashed heading down the street with the full expectation of broken mains, explosions and kindred horrors.

The "ghost" gas which manifests its power to one person at a time had disappeared completely when the firemen arrived on the scene.

Local Girl Escapes From Detention Home Third Time

A checkup made at the Oakland detention home Wednesday night revealed the fact that Marion Flaughner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius L. Flaughner, 408 Twenty-first street, Richmond, had run away for the third time.

Dr. T. A. Boyer, Contra Costa probation officer, reported her absence to the police department immediately. On two other occasions Miss Flaughner escaped from the home and came to her parents in Richmond. She was returned to the detention home in each case.

Annual Report Indicates That St. Pauls Church In San Pablo Has Had Most Successful Year

Rev. Joseph Porta, S. T. L., Pastor of the Church of Saint Paul, San Pablo and East Richmond, gave his annual report recently to his parishioners concerning the progress of the parish during the year of 1926. The report shows that the parish had the best progress in both spiritual and material since its foundation in 1861.

The most outstanding spiritual gain came as a result of the great Mission given by Rev. Father Romer of the Redemptorist fathers and his associate, Father Jong, last spring. After the mission came the organization of the Holy Name Society. This society under the presidency of Ernest H. Woodfield, has been quite a feature in the spiritual life of the men of the parish and today is one of the best organized units of that society. The women have organized themselves into a body to care for the charitable work of the parish by establishing a branch of the Catholic Ladies Aid Society, under the presidency of Mrs. Joseph Ernest Durand. The pastor realizing the extreme importance of caring for our boys requested George Glineburg, county executive of the Boy Scouts of America, last year to establish a troop in San Pablo. This group of boys is doing remarkable things under the leadership of William Cody Locke, Scoutmaster. Father Porta's report showed that great progress had been achieved by the other organizations such as the Sunday school, Altar Society, League of the Sacred Heart, and Our Lady of Guadalupe Society.

Early in the year after long consultation with the parishioners the pastor began the creation of the Church of Saint Paul Building Fund to accumulate funds for the purpose of erecting in the near future a newer and greater church of Saint Paul to replace the present edifice which built in 1861 has outlived its usefulness and capacity due to the great increase of population in this section. The outstanding feat of the fund was the conduct of the Avon Lodge campaign when over six thousand dollars were realized for the Building fund and a beautiful home on Sanford avenue, near the site of the new high school was awarded. Through savings by an economical management of the parish by the pastor and the proceeds of the annual turkey whist in November, the pastor was able to announce that at the close of 1926 the fund has a balance of over nine thousand dollars.

A great deal of credit to the success of the year can be given the indefatigable work of Father Porta whose reputation as a spiritual leader and administrator is well known. He is always found at the head of anything that is for the benefit of his people in spiritual and civic affairs. The hearty co-operation of his parishioners and their zeal for a better parish has been a great assistance to his leadership. A program for greater things in the spiritual life of the handsomeness and the credit of the Building fund are the keys to the further development of various societies is planned and a great fair will be held in the fall for the benefit of the building fund. Plans for the fair are well underway and the following booths are being organized.

Booth No. 1—Sunday School under direction of Mrs. Slaten and teaching staff.
Booth No. 2—Boy Scouts, in charge of Cody Locke.
Booth No. 3—Holy Name Society in charge of E. H. Woodfield.
Booth No. 4—Catholic Ladies Aid Society, in charge of Mrs. Emma Motz.
Booth No. 5—Altar Society in charge of Mrs. Mary Soto and members.
Booth No. 6—Our Lady of Guadalupe Society in charge of Mrs. Trinidad Arcenelega and members.
Booth No. 7—San Pablo Council No. 14, S. P. R. S. I. in charge of Mrs. Anna Rose, president.

Various committees for the coming year will be as follows: Ushers, Ernest H. Woodfield, chairman, Michael Nugent, John Owens, John Kerkers, Howard Beal, W. Cody Locke, Henry C. Soto and Charles Malloy; Altar Boys: Earl O'Connell, Michael Nugent, Jr., Thomas McDonough, Anthony Silvestri, Joseph Muren, Jr., Joseph Grace, George Covell, Anthony Farla, Joseph Duarte, Westley Owens, Joseph Gomes and Eddie Molnz. In charge of Altars: Miss Jane Grasinger, Josephine Grace and Marie Silverley. Altar Society Collectors: Mrs. Mary Roberts, Mrs. Mary Silverley, Mrs. Mary Soto, Miss Olive Buchard, Mrs. Lulu Flores, Mrs. Catherine Rekers, Mrs. Mary Locke, Mrs. Anna Soto, and Miss Mollie Fleming. Choir: Mrs. Syra Kreutzen, organist, Frank Kreutzen, Charles Kreutzen, Nicholas McKay, Samuel V. McGrath, James Hallahan, Mrs. McGrath, Mrs. Odell Jackson, Bert Curry, Mrs. Odell Jackson.

Mystery and Adventure In The Story of Salmon

THE science of canning salmon has been developed to fine an art that a salmon can be caught, cooked and canned without ever being touched by hand. Yet the life history of salmon which has baffled science for centuries is still, for the most part, unexplained.

When you open a can of salmon, you are opening one of tens of millions of cans which are opened annually. Salmon is recognized as a vital part of the human diet. Yet it is ever occur to you that the fish which is so much an every-day occurrence in your home, is one of the strangest species of the aquatic world.

Unlike most of the other species of the marine kingdom, the salmon breeds but once—and immediately afterwards it dies. Salmon spend most of their lives in salt water, yet they are born in fresh water and in fresh water they die. They mysteriously disappear, sometimes for two years and sometimes for seven, but invariably when it comes time to spawn, the salmon return to their birthplace.

Why, no one knows. To get there they leap rapids and jump boulders. Nothing but death can stop them. A whole generation of fish was wiped out in 1913, when in the course of blasting for a railroad the side of a mountain was tossed into the river damming up the stream. It happened that the salmon were forcing their way up the river to spawn, and finding their way blocked, instead of seeking another place to breed, they pounded themselves to death by millions in a frantic effort to reach their destination. This means that every four years—the life span of this particular kind of salmon—there will be an utter dearth of Fraser River salmon.

When the salmon emerge from their unknown part of the ocean to start on the homeward trip, they are in perfect form—fat and vigorous. They have eaten enough to last them on their entire journey, because once they start for home they take no time to eat—in fact their stomachs collapse. For this reason, salmon are caught only at the mouths of the streams in which they breed. Then they are in the best condition, and the fat, which makes the salmon a particularly valuable fish for the diet, is in abundance.

In order to catch the salmon when they are the finest, fleets brave the icebergs of the Bering Sea. To reach these inland streams the crew must often journey overland by dog sled and snow shoe, in the wake of wild animals and seemingly impassable snows. The tragedy of these trips lies in the fact that after millions of dollars have been spent to fit out the expedition, and complete countries sometimes built on vesels, so that the salmon if caught, can be quickly canned, it may happen that there are no salmon running that year.

But once the salmon have been caught, in traps, seines or nets, the modern marvel of quick, perfect canning begins. Canneries are located as close as possible to the place where the fish are caught, so that the full value of fresh fish is retained. As the fish are fed into the first machine, mechanical knives and brushes remove inedible portions under running water. A second machine completes the cleaning process and the fish are passed into a cutting machine which cuts them into slices to fill the cans.

An automatic filling machine fills the cans with fish, and a quarter ounce of salt is added to each pound of salmon. This is done at the remarkable speed of 125 cans a minute. The filled cans are then inspected and "climbed" or crimped, to keep water from getting in during the several minutes that they pass through live steam in the exhaust box. From the exhaust box, the cans pass to the closing machine where they are sealed and rechecked. This second cooking softens the bones of the fish, cooks the flesh thoroughly and insures complete sterilization.

The inventory of the salmon industry, including millions of dollars expended for catching and canning, has been brought about because people like salmon and because it is good for them. Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, for thirty years chief of the U. S. Bureau of Chemistry thus sums up the importance of salmon:

"For children over six, salmon is the cheapest and most nutritious animal food that can be had."

The exercises will go on tonight as originally scheduled.

The earlier action was based on what he considered the pupils' defiance of school rules, which they violated, according to him, by indulging in the youthful, innocent, purely exuberant emotions of a snake dance. The snake dance or any other similar demonstrations of joy natural to a young American student on the occasion of his graduation from school, was expressly forbidden by the principal.

Instead of marching up to the platform, separately, and receiving their diplomas—marks of merit with which to proceed in life—they are to be given their awards privately, in the principal's office.

The girls, with their commencement gowns hanging up at home, with the thought of all the preparations they made for the big event, were in tears when the cancellation order affecting the graduation exercises came.

They had this morning, tried to show their good will, their eagerness to go on with the program, by refusing to participate in a "sympathy" strike of the students—a strike intended to notify the principal that Englewood high school is in the United States, and not in Bolshevik Russia.

When the entire class was first called before the principal, and asked to sign a statement prepared by Davidson, declaring the whole class guilty of having violated a school rule, not one girl thought of her disappointment. Not one girl offered to "sign away the class honor," but they did later.

Youth of Seventeen Runs Away With Girl of Sixteen; arrested

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—A boy of seventeen was named as the companion of 16-year-old Frances Alles in her three-day adventure away from home, when she returned today. With Charles Calvert, she said, she spent the days since she ran away last Monday, visiting movie shows; the evenings in a West Side rooming house.

Mrs. Alles, the mother, obtained a warrant immediately for the arrest of Calvert, who she states had been trying for more than a year to induce her daughter to go away.

The exercises will go on tonight as originally scheduled.

Paying By Check

The familiar phrase, "enclosed find check," means that wholly or in part some transaction has just been completed. In a short time the endorsed check is returned to its maker and becomes a valid receipt, as to which there can be no argument nor controversy.

Paying by check is the safest, most convenient and satisfactory way to meet business or personal obligations. A checking account in the American Trust Company eliminates the bother and uncertainty that attach to cash transaction. A careful bank welcomes the accounts of careful customers.

Famous Chicago Art Institute Faces Bankruptcy

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Chicago's internationally famous art institute faces bankruptcy, it was learned today, following announcement of the trustees' annual report.

Objects valued at $4,000,000 have been acquired, and building operations totalling $2,000,000 in cost have been undertaken by the institute; these with a proportionate increase in maintenance costs, have precipitated the emergency.

The report of the trustees shows that the institute needs an adequate ventilating system, an increased endowment of $5,000,000 besides funds for the purchase of more paintings, publication of handbooks and catalogs and for additional building construction.

Arbitration Ends Snake Dance War In Chicago School

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Finally capitulating to the order of principal David Davidson of Englewood high school, the 250 graduates who were forbidden to have their graduation exercises tonight for indulging in a snake dance, agreed to sign a statement of the principal that they had violated a rule.

The exercises will go on tonight as originally scheduled.

The earlier action was based on what he considered the pupils' defiance of school rules, which they violated, according to him, by indulging in the youthful, innocent, purely exuberant emotions of a snake dance. MOTOR BOATS MUST BE NATTY WOMEN DECREE

By HENRY K. SUTPHEN
President of National Association
Of Engine and Boat
Manufacturers (Written Expressly for Universal Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The most outstanding fact at the annual motorboat show being held in New York is that women have brought motorboat construction to its "high state" of development.

Women have the last word when it comes to buying cruisers and the larger type craft equipped with cabins. Consequently manufacturers are building their boats to meet the demands of the feminine critics.

Men were satisfied so long as their old tubs would float and had ample power and speed. They were willing to do their slickers and mess around all day with a greasy, uncovered motor as long as the thing ran properly.

But women's influence has brought many improvements and changes in the past year. Modern engines, although much more attractive than the old timers, are covered by beautifully finished hatches. The boats are now designed to fulfill the aesthetic as well as the practical requirement of their owners and it is the women's taste for beauty that decides whether or not any boat shall be purchased.

This year's exhibit of boats is the only one in the country where water sportsmen can see a large variety of craft without traveling thousands of miles at great cost. And hundreds of the enthusiastic fans are on hand.

They have started to issue challenges which will result in several important matches at regattas next summer. Challenges and counter challenges were issued today by Harry A. Miller, of Los Angeles; Commodore Harry B. Greening of the Royal Hamilton Yacht club; Paul Bernard, representative of Dr. Etcheberry, of Paris and a score of other prominent sportsmen.

Bernard said he will bring three boats to the United States if he can get competition. The "fixers" are going to see that he is matched and the "go-betweens" had a busy day.

A movement is underway to match the speed boats of Commodore Greening with the record breaking "Angeles" of Harry Miller at Houston, Texas, on July 4.

Alumni Girls Will Practice For Hoop Game

Alumni girls of the Richmond Union high school will start basketball practice on Tuesday evening in the gymnasium of the school under the direction of Miss Clara McLaurin, girls' physical education director.

All girls who desire to play in the alumni game which will be staged on Friday, February 4 are to be present for practice on Tuesday night at 7:15.

U. C. Track Team Starts Training

BERKELEY, Jan. 27.—With a nucleus that bids fair to become a championship team, the University of California tracksters officially started their training period under Coach Walter Christie at a general sign-up held Friday.

Speaker and Cobb Given Clean Slate

(By Universal Service)
By Harry MACNAMARA

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—The boys in the back room, the front room and, in fact, every other kind of room where the great army of baseball fans of this great nation congregate are whooping it up with good reason. Judge Landis said "it ain't true" today and the war is over. Tristram Speaker, the silver-thatched Texas ranger, and Tyrus Raymond Cobb, the jewel of old Georgia, have thrown old John Scandal out at the plate. That's why the boys are whooping it up.

Seriously speaking, Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker were exonerated by Commissioner Landis of any and all wrongdoing in connection with the charges, accentuated by revenge, and brought by Hubert "Dutch" Leonard and were restored to good standing in organized baseball.

Their names were restored to the rosters of the Detroit and Cleveland clubs. They are at present on the reserve list of their respective clubs. Whether or not they will return to their clubs as players is problematical.

STANFORD
The Stanford baseball nine, which is hoped to be one of the best that Stanford has ever produced took the field yesterday and started training for a long stiff season. Tomorrow the team will meet Cliff Ireland's Independents for the first game.

LOCAL CAGERS AND MISSION FIVE TO MEET

The Richmond Union high school basketball squad will gambol around the wide open spaces today with the Mission high school team at the Mission gymnasium in San Francisco.

The Mission variety is considered to be one of the strongest high school in the state and the strong Napa school finished in the C. F. F. league last year were humbled twice by the strong trans-bay school.

In the preliminary game the two B teams will mix.

BOXING
The annual mid-winter boxing tournament at Stanford, held each year to develop new boxing talent among the students will be started on Tuesday at the Euclid gymnasium. Harry W. Maloney, director of minor sports has been training about 50 aspiring slap artists for the coming tournament which will be a feature of Stanford's indoor sports events.

BASKETBALL
A basketball game that is expected to draw wide interest will be played tonight in the Oakland auditorium when the University of California and the University of Southern California meet. The Trojan five is rated as one of the best in the state and a good battle can be expected.

BASEBALL
The Pittsburgh National league club and the Detroit American club have arranged a spring training game to be played at San Mateo, Texas. Two games have been arranged. The first will be played on March 30 and the second on March 31.

MORE BASEBALL
If the owners of the Seattle baseball club have their way this season the Seattle Indians will not keep tag with the cellar position. The scouts for the team are bringing in new faces day by day. Five pitchers, three infielders and an outfielder will appear on the regular roster by the time the season is over.

Tilden Company Expands Yards

The Tilden Lumber company has taken a lease from the Southern Pacific company for the land just east of the railway tracks and north of Macdonald avenue. A new siding is now being laid to serve the interests of the company.

During the twelve months past the Tilden company has enjoyed the greatest increase in business that it has ever known. A new winter sales record has been set up for November, December and January.

Scoutmasters Course Is Being Prepared

McRackens Win From Ben Malikis; Local Girls Lose to Emporium

By THE CUB
By virtue of their 12 to 10 victory over the Pullman hoopers last night in the Junior high school gymnasium the Giant Dynamite Mixers are the new basketball champions of Richmond.

Champions! And justly so. They took the highly touted Pullman squad and played rings around them and snatched a well earned victory and the beautiful McRackens cup.

Throughout the season the Dynamite Mixers have been playing good ball. Little was heard of them except that they had something; that something that put them over the top to the high and mighty seat, kings of Richmond basketball.

While other teams at the beginning of the season told the world that they would take home the bacon this year, the Giant hoopers just smiled. No advertising, just a quiet determination. Last night they showed the 2000 spectators that they can play basketball. Play it with a mighty offense and a brilliant defense.

They followed the ball and won! With the smack of the ball at the start both teams played slowly. Each was like a boxer, sparing for an opening, each feeling out the other's weak spots. And then it started. Snyder sank a foul and the whole town of Giant, as it appeared, rose in a body and cheered till the rafters shivered.

Another foul was sunk by Snyder and again the long cheer rang out.

Spurred on, facing defeat, the Pullman squad pushed forward. Al Huzefka sank a foul. Then long lanky Red Gadberry came through with a bucket and then Rowdy Dyer.

As the first quarter neared the close, impartial bystanders knew that the Pullman team was stale. Gadberry was tired out, one could easily see that and the rest of the team with one or two exceptions were stale. A long tiresome season had telling effects on the best of them.

George Cornell, small, slight and fast, still had the pep and his brilliant playing was a joy to behold.

The first quarter ended with the score standing 5 to 2 in favor of the Pullman squad and the Pullman cohorts were "sitting pretty."

But the worst was yet to come. The Giant team was fighting for the championship, and meant to get it through high water, if necessary. In the second quarter they made three points. Danalis sank a bucket and Drew went through with one point on a foul.

A bucket by Dyer gave the Pullman team two points.

The half ended with the score standing 7 to 5 for the Pullman team and against everything was touched with a pinkish tint for the Pullman backers.

Kaer Attempting Comeback on Track

(By Universal Service)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—Morton Kaer, all-American halfback during the 1926 grid season, is now working toward a return to stardom in track at Southern California. Kaer was an all-American in track before he was mentioned for those honors in football. The 1924 all-American collegiate team, as listed in the A. A. U. track guides, included him in the pentathlon. He took fifth in this event at the Olympic games in 1924.

playing started. In this half the Giant team showed a five man defense that is almost impossible to break through.

The Pullman team had to be satisfied with shots from the center of the floor and only once or twice could they take short shots.

It was heart-breaking work, and the Pullman team was aroused to anger—mad, after the buckets.

But that defense. In the second half they were only able to make three points, a bucket by Barberie in the first and a foul by Tamm in the fourth quarter.

But the Dynamite Mixers strutted their stuff in the third quarter. Drew, a brilliant player and his teammate, French, each went through with a bucket and a foul and in the fourth canto Drew sank a foul.

This was the game that will march down through the ages as the best possible. The fracas was marked by fumbling on both sides but Pullman outfumbled Giant.

The king is dead, long live the king! Besides the McRackens silver cup, each member of the Giant team will get a gold basketball. These men are George French, Legier Drew, L. Snyder, Ralph Danalis, A. Brandenburg, E. Parnell, A. DuPont, R. Johnson, R. Andrews, H. Parsley, H. Sponer and L. S. Lawton, manager.

Nine men on the Pullman team will receive gold basketballs. They are Dyer, Dally, Huzefka, Tamm, Gadberry, Cornell, Gillan, Barberie and Paul Huston, manager.

In the semi-final game of the evening the McRackens five took the measure of the strong Ben Malik quintet by a score of 7 to 6 after a four minute extra period. Gillan sank the winning point on a foul called on Campbell.

In the curtain raiser the girls' basketball team of the San Francisco Emporium proved superior to the local Y. L. I. team and won by a score of 14 to 13.

Lineups:

Giant
Drew, forward, 5 points; French, forward, 3 points; Snyder, center, 2 points; Parnell, guard, 0 points; Danalis, guard, 2 points.

Pullman
Dyer, forward, 4 points; Huzefka, forward, 1 point; Gadberry, center, 2 points; Barberie, guard, 2 points; Tamm, guard, 1 point. Dally, substituted for Dyer and ka, forward, 1 point; Gadberry, Tamm going to center to replace Gadberry.

McRackens
Gillan, forward, 2 points; Vierra, forward, 3 points; Johnson, center, 2 points; Santella, guard; McLaughlin, guard; and Baertoni, Kamb, Theiste and Haoyland, subs.

Men Malikis
DeBaere, forward, 2 points; Hutton, forward, 1 point; Bonham, center, 1 point; Milicevich, guard, 1 point; Campbell, guard; and Gordon and Baldwin, subs.

Crockett High Girl Cagers to Meet Local Team

The senior and sophomore basketball teams of the Crockett high school will come to this city today to meet the Richmond girls' basketball squad teams of the same classes. The game will start at 4 o'clock and a large crowd is expected to be in attendance.

Track Season Opens at U. C.

BERKELEY, Jan. 27.—Coach Walter Christie ushered in the 1927 track season at the University of California, with a few words of wisdom to a hundred and fifteen aspiring freshmen and varsity candidates.

The Bear mentor, who is commencing his twenty-seventh year as track coach at Berkeley, predicted that the ensuing season would be one in which several counts would be evened. The defeat of the Stanford tracksters and the humbling of the U. S. C. national champions is far from impossible with the present array of talent.

The initial contest has been scheduled for March 6, when the powerful Los Angeles Athletic Club come up from the south under the direction of Captain Maxwell, Pacific Coast low hurdles champion.

In the meantime several novice and inter-class competitions are being planned in order to bring the men around to mid-season form, for the U. S. C. and Stanford dual meets.

Method of Loans on Adjusted Compensation Certificates Explained to Local Veterans

"The government imposed a burden on the banks without their consent when it intimated that loans of money could be obtained on adjusted compensation certificates," Ivan Conn of the American Trust company of Richmond last night declared was the opinion of many bankers in the United States when he spoke before the local American Legion Post.

Conn explained the principle which banks were applying to the granting of loans and declared that the proposition now confronting congress to allow the veterans' bureau to make payments would settle a great many misunderstandings if passed.

The Legion voted in the business meeting that preceded Conn's address to adopt Boy Scout Troop No. 2. J. P. Saunders was named Scoutmaster and W. C. Dobler assistant Scoutmaster.

Carl Sander, senior vice commander, was in charge of the meeting, in the absence of Commander T. A. Brady, who was reported ill.

R. S. Crose, was appointed to represent the local Legion at the Livermore Veterans' hospital Christmas committee meeting scheduled for February 15 in the Hotel Oakland. Plans for work to be done during 1927 will be discussed at this time.

A class of candidates will be initiated via radio on Washington's birthday it was announced. General Pershing and National Commander H. P. Savage will broadcast from an eastern city and many locals

Trojan Cagers Leave for Game With California

(By Universal Service)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—Eleven basketball players make up the Southern California squad which left here this evening to meet California in Berkeley tomorrow.

The group includes Morris Badgro and Jesse Hibbs, forwards; Jack Bruner, center; and Captain Manuel Laraneta and Tommy Lewis, guards, of the starting lineup; and the following subs: Lloyd Thomas, Carl Dehny, Low Wheeler, Larry Schultz, Charley Bone and Morley Drury. The Bears are hoped to defeat the Cardinal and Gold team handily. The Trojans lost their first conference game of the year to Stanford by a 23-27 tally here a week ago.

JUNIOR HIGH QUINTETS WIN

The Roosevelt Junior high school Unlimited basketball squad won its fifth game yesterday by defeating the Burbank junior high school here by a score of 24 to 3 in a fast and furious game.

In the preliminary game the Junior 120 pound team defeated the Senior high school 120s by a score of 6 to 2.

CARQUINEZ TO HAVE ELEVEN NEW GREENS

Eleven of the greens at the Carquinez golf course club will be replaced and a number of new traps and bunkers will be installed to make the club course the sportiest in the bay regions. This announcement was made by Phil Harlow, who was named chairman of the greens committee at a session of the board of directors of the club last night at the home of A. A. Alstrom.

Eleven of the greens will be rebuilt, Harlow declared and many of the holes will be guarded by traps and bunkers.

Al Hill and John Beers were appointed as members of the house committee and another member will be appointed soon by Hill and Beers. This committee will have charge of the clubhouse.

Dr. U. S. Abbott, president of the board, presided last night.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—United States immigration officials were investigating today the entry of George Young, Catalina channel conqueror and "Mitty" Tasting, his pal, into the United States from Canada.

W. E. Carr, immigration commissioner for southern California, admitted that the inquiry was the result of an anonymous communication received at his office in which the legality of the boys' entrance into this country was questioned. He said that if it is found that they have not complied with the immigration laws, they will be subject to immediate deportation.

Will Enjoy a Happy New Year Blood Test Shows Negative

Dec. 23, 1926.
At the beginning of last summer my blood test showed two positives; that is two "x's." It had previously been four "x's." (Qualities).

After I failed to get relief by treatments, hydropneumothorax, I decided to give the Fong Wan Herbs a trial. I drank the herbs for only one month. Nevertheless when I had a blood test taken again on Dec. 24, 1926, the test showed negative. So my blood is thoroughly cleansed and in O. K. at last. I shall certainly enjoy a Happy New Year. Because of my gratitude for the Fong Wan Herbs Treatment, I am glad to give this testimonial.

Yosemite Bachelors Aspire to Marriage

YOSEMITE, January 27.—Due to an unprecedented desertion from the bachelors' ranks in government circles, the dining room of the Rangers' Club has been ordered closed until spring when the temporary summer employees arrive.

Confirmed bachelors of years standing, who have always pointed with pride at their single blessedness, are now developing writer's cramp practicing their signatures to be affixed soon to a marriage license. Local residents can offer to explain for the numerous ships that have been recently launched on the local matrimonial sea, except the charm of the Yosemite girls.

KNEES ARE NOT PRETTY; COVER 'EM IS EDICT

By C. F. BERTELLI
Special Cable Dispatch
(By Universal Service)

PARIS, Jan. 27.—"The knee must be fully covered by the skirt." This was the general opinion today of leading Rue De La Paix dress-makers.

Vionnet, Patou, Suzanne Talbot, Yvonne Carrette, Drecol, Lucille, one and all agree that the skirt must be from fifteen to sixteen inches from the ground.

"The knee itself is generally ugly; indeed it is one of the rarest things to see a pretty knee. So why show it?"

Thus stated Marie Nowitzky, who with Yvonne Carrette, leads all the others in the shortness of skirts for spring sport wear.

"From fifteen to sixteen inches from the ground is a fair average," said Vionnet, "unless we have exaggerated styles which are never elegant."

"Skirts will be reasonably short but not short all around," said Patou. "The skirts in fact will be short in front and longer in the back during the spring. It is a natural movement adding great charm to the slim figure which is now the fashion."

"As short as two inches below the knees is the prospect but the usual length is for evening wear," said Yvonne Carrette.

The up in the front and down in the back style which was barely indicated last season will be greatly accentuated this spring.

The long skirt movement failed despite the pressure brought to bear by the queen of Spain, the vatican and by Mussolini. The women will not wear their skirts longer but the extreme shortness seen in America recently is quite out of the question in Paris.

Since only one woman in a thousand has knees so perfect that she needs to expose them and as the modern dressmaker is the artistic expression of the wearers' taste, it is necessary to emphasize the good points and disguise the others.

Suzanne Talbot, whose evening dresses are also of unequal length so the wearer can comfortably sit down without exhibiting yards of silk hose, also champions longer skirts even for day wear. Her evening wraps are invariably "angle length."

"The wrap must protect," she says, "and whatever fashion may say, true elegance is only found in the strict appropriateness of each gown for each occasion."

A thorough canvass of practically every dress making firm in Paris, even those who have not yet held their openings, reveals the unequal length skirt is the main feature, while two inches below the knee is the minimum for even the shortest skirts made.

The Little Store Around The Corner

ALL types of people meet in The Little Store Around the Corner. The woman with her shopping bag upon her arm does her buying early in the morning; the chauffeur who drops by at noon with a written order of goods to be put in the car; the woman who hurries in on her way home from the matinee to buy something ready-prepared for dinner; and the man who rushes in just before the dinner hour for the pound of butter some one forgot.

A tall dark-skinned woman stood apart and watched the crowds hurry in and out. They seemed so certain of just what they wanted, and they looked so satisfied with what they got.

Finally her turn came. "And yours?" asked the woman with the white apron, who stood behind the counter. And as she asked it, she smiled at the dark woman.

The woman's eyes slid roving the shelves, she hesitated a moment, and then in a burst of confidence, exclaimed: "Oh! I just don't seem to want anything—you see everything is so different here from the foods we have been used to buying at home, in San Antonio, Texas, and I can't get what I want, not even the ingredients to make our favorite dishes."

"I'll try," the woman behind the counter said pleasantly. "What are some of your favorite dishes?"

The woman sighed. "Well, there's chili con carne. On a cold day we love a bowl of piping hot chili con carne served with tiny crackers; then there's Spanish rice—rich yellow rice with Spanish sauce—and ever so many other highly seasoned foods. But it seems that none of the stores in the neighborhood carry these things, and I can't even get frijoles beans to make chili con carne."

"Why not some very nice chili con carne in cans," the saleswoman suggested. "We haven't any on hand, because we haven't had any call for it in this particular neighborhood, but we can order it for you, since you are one of our customers."

"Can you?" she exclaimed. "I'll buy ever so much of it."

"Just buy what you happen to need," the saleswoman said, taking out her order pad. "We can keep you supplied and others no doubt will find out how good your chili con carne is these cold days. And how about some Mexican tamales, and some of the chili powder you use in your Spanish rice and highly seasoned dishes?"

"This is just like home after all," the woman from San Antonio said. A few minutes later she hurried out of the Little Store Around the Corner with the same satisfied expression which she had seen on the faces of other women who dealt there.

It is the kind of service which your little store around your corner is ready to give you. Instead of going to some store in another town, you can get your favorite foods, how much simpler to take the storekeeper in your own neighborhood to order for you? Taking care of your individual wants has made the corner store an individual store.

It is a very cosmopolitan store, too, since it caters to the wants of so many types of people. Peep into the case and see how many kinds of bread it takes to please different customers. There's white and there's rye, graham, wholewheat, and a curious loaf with a Swedish wrapper, pumpernickel and French twist.

And whether your favorite cheese is American, German, Swiss or Italian, it is no doubt tucked away for you if you'll only ask for it.

The fact that the clientele of the Little Store Around the Corner is discriminating has brought to its shelves a variety of each kind of food. Canned peas, for example, come in five different sizes—garden size to thirty-sevenths of an inch. There are "petit pois," the smallest size, "extra sifted," the next size, and then the "sifted," selected early June peas, and late large peas called "telephone."

Five varieties of Pacific salmon are at the call of the customer who delights in his favorite kind of salmon; Sockeye, deep red in color; Chinook, silver scaled and sometimes called "Silver salmon," also called "Medium Red"; Humpback and Pink salmon; and Chum, light colored and less oily than the others.

Hawaiian Pineapple serves as an example of the many ways in which fruit is available. It is packed in various sizes ranging from the buffer size to the large size, and may be sliced, crushed, in broken slices, or tidbits, and also Hawaiian pineapple juice alone may now be bought in cans.

INTIMACIES IN GLADSTONE LIFE BARED IN COURT

(By Universal Service)
Special Cable Dispatch

LONDON, Jan. 27.—London society's fashionably dressed women and smartly attired gentlemen thronged into Justice Avery's court in the king's bench division today, as alleged intimacies in the life of William B. Gladstone, former premier and "grand old man" of the Victorian age, were paraded in public.

Famous women of the stage, prominent leaders in society, ladies of the court and "just women" were named by Captain Peter Wright as intriguing and romantic figures in the life of the famous British statesman. Specifically, he referred to a French actress named Brasseur, Laura Bell, the famous Lily Langtry, known on the stage as "the Jersey Lily" and Olga Novikoff, the well-known Russian diplomat's former mistress.

Captain Wright is suing Viscount Gladstone, aged son of the former premier for libel. "The viscount is alleged to have called him a 'liar' for the characterization he had given the deceased premier in his book, 'Portraits and Criticisms.' Captain Wright also charged that the viscount had written a letter to the secretary of the Bath Club which resulted in his expulsion."

Captain Wright said that Gladstone, "founded a great tradition since observed by many of his followers and successors with such pious fidelity in public, to speak the strictest principles, and in private to pursue and possess every sort of woman."

Immediately upon publication of the book, the viscount and Harry Neville Gladstone, another son, denounced Captain Wright and followed with the letter to the Bath club which resulted in his expulsion.

In one of his letters to Captain Wright, Viscount Gladstone is alleged to have said "your garbage about Mr. Gladstone has come to our knowledge. You are a liar. Because you are a coward and because you think the public will accept such an invention from such as you, you are a fool."

The general impression is that the viscount courted the libel suit to clear his father's name. Wright in his testimony today said that

Jardine Sends Good Wishes to Almond Growers

(By Universal Service)
Special Cable Dispatch

San Francisco, Jan. 27.—Declaring that the cooperative marketing movement, and the California Almond Growers Exchange as a representative of it, are "entitled to the interest and support of public-spirited citizens," Secretary of Agriculture, W. M. Jardine, in a letter to Manager T. C. Tucker, of the almond cooperative, assures the almond executive that he may count on the help of the department in the work of the association. Secretary Jardine declares in his letter that the motto: "In union there is strength," is "no mere vague phrase," but that it has "definite application to agriculture as to every other industry."

Secretary Jardine's letter to Tucker follows:

"Department of Agriculture, Washington, Jan. 3, 1927.

Mr. T. C. Tucker, Secretary and Manager, California Almond Growers Exchange, 311 California street, San Francisco, California.

Dear Mr. Tucker:

As we enter upon a new year, please accept my heartiest good wishes and those of the Department of Agriculture for the continued progress and prosperity of your association. Steady growth in membership and achievement of the cooperative organizations seems to me the most hopeful sign of American agriculture. 'In union there is strength' is no mere vague phrase. It has definite application to agriculture, as to every other industry. The cooperative movement, and your organization as a representative of it, are entitled to the interest and support of public-spirited citizens. You may count on every help that any one in the Department of Agriculture can give.

Sincerely yours,
W. M. JARDINE."

RIVAL ARMIES CLOSE ON CITY OF SHANGHAI

demanding that the American government give the every protection.

In the face of this crisis, it was stated, the American naval forces will be compelled to meet the situation as best they can. Admiral C. S. Williams, commander in chief of the American forces, is being given a free rein to meet the situation, and it is assumed that the usual custom of acting in concert with the other foreign forces would be followed, officials said.

His new orders are to take whatever action he deems best to render Americans full protection. It was explained.

Hope To Avert Crisis
The State Department was hopeful, but by no means certain that Secretary of State Kellogg's statement of policy would avert the impending crisis. His flat offer to relinquish extraterritorial rights and to give China tariff autonomy, and his expression of the hope that China would realize her ambition to become a sovereign power, should have a quieting effect, officials believed.

He said, however, that it would be impossible for the United States to abrogate existing treaties until new treaties guaranteeing the open door and protection for Americans could be negotiated. These he declared, could be negotiated only with a government actually representative of China.

He does not consider either the Cantonese or the North China government really representative of a majority of China, or that they have the right to make treaties binding the nation, he said.

However, he amended his statement today to say that he would enter into negotiations with delegates who might be selected by the various factions and authorized by them to act for the nation. It was said to be his hope that the rival factions could come to an agreement in this direction which would make it possible to halt the threatened extermination of foreigners.

Agreement Remot
The secretary said little hope, however, of reaching an agreement with either of the factions independently. It was stated that the Cantonese control only the southern half of China while the northern army controls the remainder. He said that protests have been received from both against recognition or dealing with the other.

It was pointed out that should the Cantonese be recognized before they secure control of the country, the northern army would immediately begin outrages against the large number of Americans in their territory, particularly around Peking and Tientsin.

In the meantime refusal to deal with the Cantonese who are closing in on Shanghai, where most Americans are quartered, is viewed as making them the target for anti-foreign demonstrations, when and if the Canton army invades Shanghai.

These conditions were cited to show the critical situation in which the State Department finds itself, it was learned.

The State Department reemphasized its hope that a way would be found out of the difficulty. It was said that every act of the United States in recent years reflected the friendship of this nation for China and her independence. It was declared that the United States will do everything possible to get her citizens out and avoid possible clashes.

But until some group is set up with which the United States may deal as representing the Chinese nation, the only course open is to protect Americans to the limit, it was stated.

Kellogg Endorsed
Republicans and Democrats in the House joined in endorsing Secretary Kellogg's statement of policy toward China.

Wainwright (R) of New York,

suggested that since it was in line with the pending Porter resolution, the House should defer action upon the resolution and not embarrass the administration in its negotiations. All speakers said they were for backing up Americans in China, excepting Blanton (D) of Texas, who said he did not favor using American troops for such protection.

Cooper (R) of Wisconsin, Dyer (R) of Missouri, Connally (D) of Texas, and Abernathy (D) of North Carolina, praised the administration statement of policy.

Speedy action to revise existing treaties, so as to give China greater sovereignty, was urged by Cooper and Connally.

Conditions similar to the boxer uprising prevail in China, and if the United States wants to avert another such catastrophe she should act independently in China for lofty principles, they said.

When Wainwright and Banhead (D) of Alabama, suggested there was no central government in central government in China with which the United States could draft new treaties, Cooper declared that all China was united in its foreign policy, and there would be no difficulty in that respect.

British Troops Arrive
(By Universal Service)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 27.—The defenders of Shanghai were reported today to be successfully stemming the Cantonese drive in fighting which is in progress in the province of Chekiang.

After having suffered severe losses at the hands of the Cantonese, Sun Chuan Pang is reported to again be in the ascendancy, turning back the Cantonese invaders.

Four hundred and thirty-three Junghai troops, the first contingent of the 16,000 to 20,000 British troops, arrived here today from Hong Kong.

With the exception of the legation guards maintained at Peking and Tientsin, these are the first British troops to enter China since the Boxer rebellion.

Messages from Calcutta announced that more British soldiers had sailed from here today. John V. A. Macmurray, American minister to Peking, returned here today simultaneously with the publication there of Secretary Kellogg's statement of the United States' policy toward China.

Negotiations were said to be under way today whereby the Cantonese troops will remain twenty-five miles out of Shanghai provided the foreign powers can secure the withdrawal of opposing Chinese soldiers.

tional income tax lien was filed here today against the Charlie Chaplin Film corporation for $536,860.93 while the comedian's attorneys were busy in the east arranging a bond to obtain the release of $500,000 of Chaplin's cash under government sequestration in New York banks.

According to Lloyd Wright, one of the screen star's counsel, the newest lien will be taken care of by the bond now being arranged in the east. It was pointed out that this lien does not apply to United Artists, the Chaplin film releasing organization, so there will be no interference with the showing of his pictures.

Counsel for Mrs. Lita Grey Chaplin were making plans today to attack the "technical bulwark," as they call it, with which the actor's lawyers have surrounded his millions from access by the wife.

Though Attorneys Lyndol Young and Edwin T. McMurray, the plaintiffs' advisers, declare that the obstacles thrown in their path are merely "technical," Mrs. Chaplin apparently was no nearer collecting today the $8000 temporary alimony which the Superior court has awarded her. Nor have her lawyers been able to obtain the $4000 allotted them.
